

The diagram illustrates a complex network of interconnected rectangular nodes and lines, representing a system architecture or data flow. The nodes are arranged in a hierarchical or branching structure, with lines indicating connections between them. The diagram is rendered in a grayscale, technical style.